The Rotary Young Citizen project is conceived by Rotary International in Great Britain and Ireland (RIBI) in association with BBC News 24 to celebrate the positive citizenship and vital responsibilities assumed by many young people in these islands.

Rotary Clubs were asked to identify valued young people (under the age of 25) in their communities and nominate them for an award involving a trophy, a cash donation £500 to their project and a visit to the BBC News studios. The winners received their awards from BBC presenter Ellie Crisell at Rotary's annual conference in Bournemouth on Saturday 14th April, 2007 which was televised by BBC News 24.

5 winners out of 60 entries were chosen, Interact Club and Rotaract Club were among the winners. Please visit RIBI website for
