Paul Golla– BHS Football Coach

Darrel Atkinson, Paul Golla and Sheely Golla before the inspirational speech begins regarding how Paul keeps the young men on the football team at BHS growing personally as well as moving towards adulthood.

Coach uses Maslow’s Theories

Paul inspires his charges by focusing them on their goals, “keeping their eyes on the prize.” Students must have a 3.0 to play. There are needs to be met each day for existence such as eating, personal safety, and then beyond that football is the fun stuff. Paul wants the student to graduate with an awareness of self and what they can do to impact others. He received $500.00 from BEREC for his program! Go Coach Golla!!

THIS WEEKS- Roto Lounge– Sponsored by: LLOYD PLANK

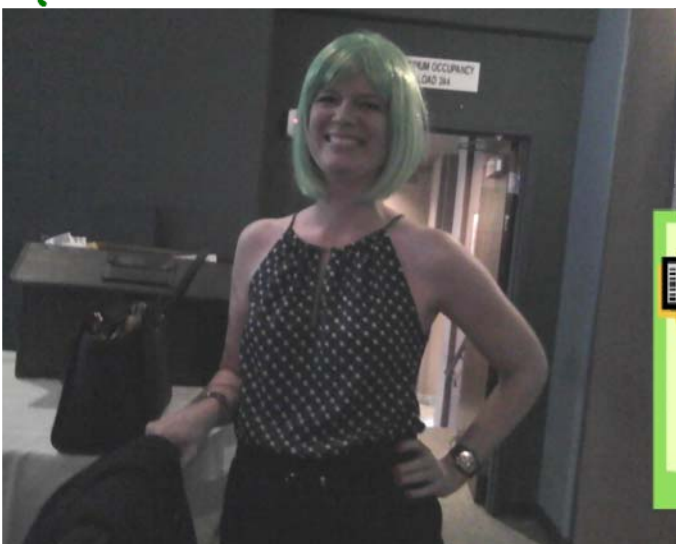

LAST WEEK’S ROTO LOUNGE SPONSOR MYSTERY SOLVED!
Paramount Farms’– Andy Anzaldo & Wife Quietly Sponsored the day with their wine “Justin” from their Landmark Wineries.

Bill Lewis in the far background is singing his new birthday song to Somewhere Over the Rainbow- “Somewhere over the rainbow, this is your birthday song, it’s not very long.”

The wine and Pistachios were both from Paramount Farms. The wine was self serve...who knew, announcements were made, but the Roto News Editor must need hearing aids!

Lloyd Plank, PP sponsored the Roto Lounge. He didn’t elaborate as to why, but he was without his cane this week and I’m sure that was cause to celebrate as well as being a football fan! And because he “loves Larry a lot.”

Amanda Frank didn’t wear this fine green wig until after the meeting, but it was a really minty green topper. Didn’t ask if it came from Lemonade Locks. To the right is Vernon Varner who donated $1500.00 on behalf of Varner Brothers Companies& Kern Refuge to the Vino Amore annual fundraiser. His green shirt was very Hawaiian.

CLUB MEETING PLACES

"Clubs determine where to hold their meetings. Each club is expected to meet in a place where any member of another Rotary club can attend. Rotarians can find a club's meeting day, time, and location in the Official Directory or through Club

GUESTS

Club members are encouraged to invite guests to weekly meetings so that non-Rotarian community members can learn more

- 1) Welcome visiting Rotarians and their spouses. Clubs can use their discretion in admitting guests of visiting Rotarians.
- 2) Invite students to share with them Rotary's accomplish-
- 3) Welcome Rotary Foundation alumni, particularly those who have recently moved to the locality of the club. Alumni

Clubs periodically hold separate training meetings exclusively for conveying Rotary information and for providing leadership

Every member has the privilege of attending the regular meeting of any other club, except for a club that previously terminated the membership of that person for good cause."

CLUB PROGRAMS AND MEETING AGENDAS

"Clubs develop their programs and meeting agendas according to the needs of their communities. Clubs hold regular meetings devoted to discussing service projects and activities and club business.

Clubs periodically hold separate training meetings exclusively for conveying Rotary information and for providing leadership training.

A club may discuss questions of public interest provided that, when such questions are controversial, all sides are adequately presented.

At least two meetings per year include presentations on the purpose, programs, and fund development activities of The Rotary Foundation. One of these programs is best held during Rotary Foundation Month in November."

From "The Rotary International Manual of Procedure" (2013)

ATTENDANCE

Absences from regular club meetings may be made up in various ways listed in the Standard Rotary Club Constitution.

"Regular attendance of club meetings and engagement in club service projects, events, or activities demonstrate a member's commitment to the club and to the organization. Attendance

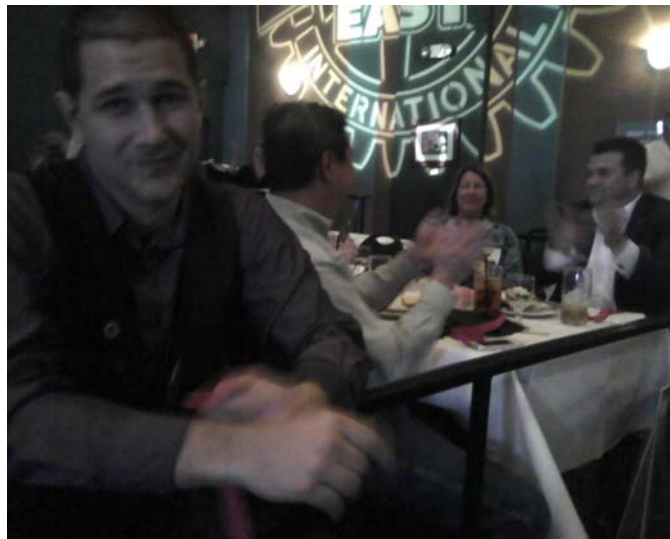

Members who attend an RI meeting, such as a district conference, can credit the days attended to make up for club meetings missed as a result of attending the RI meeting.
