

District Governor Nominee Jacque Andrew

The Rotary journey for Jacque Andrew began in 1990 when she became a member of the Rotary Club of Jefferson. She has served the club as president, board member, Rotary charity auction co-chair, public relations chair, youth chair/counselor/in-bound youth exchange host family, and numerous other roles and was the recipient of the club's Service Award. Appointed to her first District committee in 1994, she has served as an Assistant Governor; District Secretary and on Membership; EREY; RYLA; Literacy; Interact; PolioPlus; Governor's Newsletter; Annual Giving; District Simplified Grants and Nominating committees. She became a Paul Harris fellow in 1997, followed by Bequest Society, Benefactor and Paul Harris Society membership.

She attended Chicago and Salt Lake City International Conventions and Xicotepec project in 2012. Mentoring by many effective and inspiring leaders guided her experience in Rotary.

Proud to be an Iowa native, Jacque earned her bachelor's degree in journalism and home economics from Iowa State University and master's degree from Drake University in counseling and personnel services.

Throughout her 25 year career in marketing, communications and human resources, Jacque has worked principally in the fields of healthcare and education. For over 20 years she was a director for the Greene County Medical Center in Jefferson, IA, in human resources and public/community relations and retired in 2011. She served as president of professional organizations Iowa Society for Healthcare Human Resources Administration and Iowa Vocational Guidance Association. A graduate of the Association of Business and Industry's Leadership Iowa program, she served as the chair of its board of governors. She received the distinguished leadership award from the National Association for Community Leadership.

State and community service has included: organizer and founding president (5 years) of the Greene County Community Foundation; board member and marketing chair, Iowa 4-H Foundation board, 6 years; board member, Arrowhead Area Education Agency, 12 years; Iowa Natural Heritage Foundation board, 6 years; Iowa State University Extension, Citizens Advisory Committee, 3 years; and past president of a number of local civic and church groups. For more than 20 years, Jacque, along with her sister and nieces, has operated the Webster county farm where she grew up.

Jim is a graduate of The University of Iowa college of business and a Paul Harris fellow. Actively involved in corn and soybean production as president/general manager of Andrew Farms, Inc., he was honored as an Iowa Master Farmer and ASA Conservationist of the Year. He has served on the boards of Iowa and National Corn Growers, US Grains Council and Iowa and American Soybean Association in leadership roles and representing these groups at World Trade Organization (WTO) meetings worldwide and as a bio-tech advocate to the European Union. Jim is an avid reader on history, business and politics and enjoys travel.

Blessed with three now grown daughters, Jane, Julia and Jennifer (Xicotepec 2003), Jacque and Jim find their growing family a true joy. She pursues interests in travel, reading, technology, ISU athletics and gardening as much as possible.
